ION R. NALL, of Louisville.

For Railroad Commissioner, Third District,
GREEN R. KELLER, of Nicholas.

For the Legislature—91st District,
JOSEPH C. LYKINS, of Wolfe.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce CHAS. T. BYRD, of Campton, as a candidate for the office of Circuit Court Clerk for Wolfe county, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The election is not far off now and Bradley realizes that each day brings him nearer to his doom.

Get together, Democrats, quit your cousin's kicking and make a united effort for the success of the ticket next month.

The old Liberty bell that pealed forth the independence of the American people in 1776, has been taken to the Atlanta exposition.

A telegram states that a man in Cincinnati had seven gallons of water pumped off of his lungs. It is safe to gamble that he wasn't a Kentuckian.

The governor of Arizona thinks that territory entitled to statehood. Maybe it is, basing the population on centipedes, Gila monsters, Grasshopper Mexicans and Digger Indians.

The registration over the state is the largest for years, and while the Republicans show large gains, the Democratic ticket will win a walk if the Democrats who have registered will go to the polls and do their duty.

Republicans have fallen out among themselves at Lexington over who shall be the candidate for mayor. Perhaps the old saying, "when thieves fall out honest men get their dues," will hold good in this case.

"Bloody bridges" Waite, the one time Populist governor of Colorado, fired the first gun of the Populist campaign in Ohio, at Springfield Friday. He will stump the state in the interest of his hobo friend, Coxey.

Rev. Stephen A. Northrup, the new pastor of the First Baptist church at Cincinnati, says he is not seeking notoriety, but will devote all of his time to snatching brands from the burning. Would that all ministers would do the same.

A high medical authority says that the gray matter of the brain forms in the finger tips, feet and other nerve centers of those afflicted with total blindness. This accounts for the large pedal extremities of our blind free silver friends. The gray matter of their brains has run principally to feet.

At Barboursville Wednesday last a big Republican rally was arranged for and had been advertised far and wide. Col. Bradley was to be the orator of the day. He came and the Republicans hoist rallied to the extent of 300. Bradley consumed about two hours explaining why he ran away from Eminence. Billy don't draw well.

When Governor Charles Culbreth of Texas donned the gloves and stepped into the arena to do battle with the lanky Antipodean, Bob Fitzsimmons, and the pompadour California beauty, Jim Corbett, he had in his corner the legislature of the great state of Texas to give him polars on the game. He snarled for an opening, and in just two hours after time was called the plucky governor was declared a winner. This decision of the legislature forever lifts prize fighting in the Lone Star State. This brilliant victory over the prize-fighter is all the greater when compared with the miserable finish of your Uncle Henry Mitchell of Florida when he was to stop the Corbett-Mitchell fight a few years ago.

At Greensburg Wednesday, W. B. Taylor, Republican nominee for Attorney General, wanted Gen. Hardin to divide time with him. Wat told him to trot out the short horse from Garrard and he would divide time with him, but not with the small fry. Billy don't want any time with Wat. Since that Eminence affair the burden of Billy's song is, "There are moments when one wants to be alone."

Charley Moore, the Blue Grass Blade editor, was cited to appear in the Federal court at Louisville on Tuesday last. The charge on which he answered the summons was that of sending obscene literature through the mails, and if he be found guilty the people of this country will have witnessed the last act in the drama of the Blue Grass Blade, which was for a time the leading play with very many. Charley should remember that "the way of the transgressor is hard." We know it full well.

Auditor Norman, in reply to a question, stated that the minutes of the Sinking Fund Commissioners and the records of his office were open to the inspection of all reputable persons, and that they are subject at all times to the inspection of the governor and the legislature. He further stated that he was under $200,000 bond for the faithful discharge of his duties and that the state inspector and examiner was present at every monthly settlement between the treasurer and auditor. What more do the Republicans want? The Commercial claims that Norman "juggled" the books for campaign purposes and has printed columns of stuff daily, stating that the books of the auditor could not be seen, and yet, the Commercial was accorded the privilege of examining the books, which privilege it never availed itself of. The Commercial delights in misrepresentation, but flimsy statements based on falsehood carry no weight, and the rabid utterances of the Louisville Pervert of Facts will avail nothing.

After November Bradley will have disappeared forever from Kentucky's political arena. He had a fighting chance to win, but blasted his own hopes by his childish action in refusing to continue the debates with Hardin. The idol of his party in Kentucky and with the Democrats divided among themselves, his chances of victory were flattered indeed. 'Twas the Republican's chance of a life time, and who can blame them for feeling awe and disgust when they see their fondest hopes shattered by the babyish and cowardly action of the man whom they had selected as their standard bearer? Billy dug his own grave; he has been weighed in the balance and proven an ill-starred leader, and will sink into the oblivion of a political has been, unwelcome, unremembered and unsung by even his own party. We have witnessed the passing of Bradley. He has proven himself the shortest horse that ever went to the post with a thoroughbred, and his star of destiny, that looked at the beginning of the campaign as if 'twould light his pathway to the gubernatorial chair has sunk forever beneath the lowering clouds of popular disfavor. Farewell, Billy; you sought to rise to eminence and a fortune proved your Waterloo.

General William Mahone, ex-governor of Virginia, ex-congressman and ex-senator from that state, and a man who has been conspicuous in national politics for nearly half a century is lying at the point of death in his hotel in Washington. Gen. Mahone's life has been a tragic one, inasmuch as he sacrificed fortune and social prestige for that which he believed to be right. As a southern senator, a Confederate general and an F. V. V., he voted with the Republicans at a time when a bill of momentous importance to southerners hinged on his vote, and amidst a storm of hisses and derisive laughter from the Democratic side of the senate and under the scathing sarcasm of the gifted Ben Hill of Georgia, he had the courage, manhood and the ability to stand on the floor of the senate and defend his position in a manner that won for him the admiration of the unbiased and proved conclusively that he was the equal, intellectually, of the most brilliant member of that body. For this act he and his family were ostracized by the southerners, his business went to pieces and it is said that he is now penniless. But the world will yet come to accord to Gen. Mahone simple justice, and recognize his true worth for he was a man of marked ability and his passing away removes from Virginia politics the most unique figure of the century.

Genial John C. Wood, Republican candidate for railroad commissioner, was through this country last week in the interest of his ticket, and incidentally added new friends to an already large list in this section. The Herald is for Hon. Green R. Keller for railroad commissioner and in favor of John C. remaining at home and running the Gazette. John is too good a newspaper man to forsake the tripod and scissors for the spoils of public office. Personally he is one of the most pleasant and courteous gentlemen that it was ever our pleasure to meet, and is possessed of the talent, genius and ability to grace any position to which he may be called to fill. The worst thing that can be said of John Wood is that he is a Republican, and he is not wholly responsible for that calamity, for his father before him has been a fighting Republican for a lifetime, and John is a chip off the old block. If we must have a Republican railroad commissioner for this district he is our choice of the entire state. As editor of the Mt. Sterling Gazette since its initial number, he has ever shown a disposition to be fair with those who did not politically agree with him, and has always refrained from "singling out" and vilifying his Democratic opponents, and has conducted a clean, fair, though aggressive Republican paper. Change your politics, John, and we are for you for any office you may aspire to fill.

Who Little Evans is able to be out after a week's illness.

The "rally man" holds the winning hand just at this season.

Henry Pieratt and B. F. Quicksall were in West Liberty Sunday.

Buy 104 blankets at "The Racket Store" at 75c per pair.

Miss Sadina Taulner is visiting friends and relatives in Breathitt county.

Farmers are about through with their corn cutting, and are getting ready for the fall.

Hazel Green would much rather have a railroad than a railroad commissioner.

Work on W. T. Caskey's new dwelling house, on Upper street, is progressing rapidly.

Miss Hecan Mathis, of Grass, has the thanks of our town, for some very fine clothing.

Rev. J. L. West preached two excellent sermons at the Methodist church Sunday morning and evening.

We are glad to report Mrs. John Evans about recovered from a sprained ankle and is able to be up and about.

Thomas Daniel, of Ezel, was here visiting his aunt, Mrs. Fletcher McIntire, during the fore part of the week.

Work has commenced on J. T. Day's mill, and the building will be ready for the machinery in about thirty days.

W. F. Chatham, who has been employed on the Ezel, for the past month, left for his home in Mt. Sterling Monday.

Dave Linden and Howard Little have a bunch of beautiful cattle, which they will sell or take to Mt. Sterling next week.

Willie Pieratt paid a living visit to Ezel Sunday. He reports Mr. Crampton paid much better and on the high road to recovery.

At an election held in this voting district Saturday evening last, John M. Rose was elected Democratic committeeman for the district.

John H. Kaye, a prominent dry goods merchant of Winchester, arrived here Monday, and is drinking Sango water for the benefit of his health.

Dr. Andy Nirkell, of this place, was on Monday called to see a child of Columbus Gillespie's, and found it suffering with both measles and the whooping cough.

It was reported here Monday that little Ben Pieratt had a very severe hemorrhage of the lungs Sunday night, and that his dear ones hardly hoped for his recovery.

Our sidewalks continue a source of danger to pedestrians, and unless up before the week, either by the city or by the street car and automobile will become necessary.

Dr. E. M. Thomas, of Ezel, was a visitor here the first part of the week, and was called to an inquiry about the sick of his town, told THE HERALD man that all were on the mend.

John H. Rose will leave Sunday for Louisville, where he goes as a delegate from Mizpah Lodge to the Masonic Grand Lodge of Kentucky. His running mate and party, John Davis, will probably accompany him, and others may go also.

Mrs. Lou Day is having her hotel property painted a lead color with salmon trimmings and when completed it will be one of the handsomest hotels in the country. She recently repaired the rooms and in fact renovated everything about the house, and is prepared to entertain all who may come to the fair next week.

The minutes of the Red River Association of Old Baptists for the year 1895 have just been completed and are now ready for delivery. The association met with Jett's Creek church in Breathitt county, on Friday before the second Saturday in September, and for three days had a very interesting and enjoyable time.

Dave Linden, Howard Little, Logan Little and Jim Linden left Monday for Lexington, where they will take the great trotting races at that place, which began on Tuesday. Jo Putchen, Robert J. and John R. Centre, the three fastest pacers in the world, will be in a great match race, and it will be interesting to hear the boys tell all about it when they return.

County court Monday, quarterly court Tuesday and the Court of Chancery Wednesday made it very interesting for the good people of Canaan this week. The list of claims allowed will be published in THE HERALD in due season and the taxpayers will then know "where they are at." The people should know of every cent expended in the county, and only the prompt publication of these lists can afford them the information.

Mrs. Miles Wilson, of Lacy Creek, has the thanks of our better acquainted friends for some extra fine apples of the Rome Beauty and Ben Davis varieties. One would hardly think that such apples could be grown in this country, and the fact that they are should induce every farmer, no matter how limited his means, to plant an apple orchard at his old homestead. It is a good thing to penetrate this country and then a ready market may be had for all fruit grown.

George W. Long, editor of the Grayson Eagle, published at Letchfield, Grayson county, and candidate for State Treasurer on the Republican ticket, accompanied by C. C. Wood, editor of the Mt. Sterling Gazette, and candidate for Railroad Commissioner in this district, paid a pleasant call on Friday night last. Both of the gentlemen made speeches at Canaan on Saturday, and Saturday morning left for West Liberty, where they essayed to enlighten the people of that section on the State and National issues Saturday afternoon. Both gentlemen appeared to be quite sanguine of success in the coming November struggle and looked even then like they would taste the sweets of office, but they were so earnest that it is scarcely possible in full force and effect and that "there's a way a slip twist up and flip." Mr. Long was so full of promises that he was sure to be able to say that John Wood said if he were elected he would do all he could to secure us a railroad.

A LITTLE COUNTRY TOWN.

Written for THE HERALD.

You may talk about your cities, And your big big big And your elevated railroad, And your factories great and small, But the "country town" lines up When it comes to certain joys And the city can't put in it With the homespun country boys.

Although we have no railroads, Our quick transit isn't hot, And when we want to travel Why we get there with just feet; Our girls don't ride in automobiles Nor the boys smoke "cedar bolls," And we do all our drinking From "a spring that never fails."

Yes, we know that life in cities Is not to be let joy, And to mingle with the busy world The hope of every country boy, But we years of us still count it And the sands of life run down, The heart will turn in longing To that little country town.

And again you'll see the cottage, Nestled there among the trees, And the tinkling of the cowbells Will come floating on the breeze, And the sweetest of voices will sound, Long have gathered home to bed, And his sleeping "neath the greenward Where the dew-daisies nod."

Will come to you, in memory, As you sit here, weary eyes, And again you'll hear the music Of her sweet voice, soft and low, And as you and your wife are dreaming, You will find a red thread down, Marked, "Some Loving Recollections Of a Dear Old Country Town."

Hazel Green, Ky., Oct. 8, 1895.

You can buy hats at 75c at the J. T. Day Company's new store.

Mrs. Joe Larkin, living near town, was on Tuesday taken sick with something like cholera.

Col. Phil Winn, of the Winchester Bank, will be here to attend the fair, and will have a sample of his celebrated "dog wash" with him.

Dr. Taulner was on Tuesday called to see Lee Rose, son of Mrs. John Rose, of Grass, who is dangerously ill from blood poisoning.

A tick in the lady's shoe heel had perched the foot from time to time, and the pain being only slight he paid but little attention to it until symptoms of pyemia set in.

For the one can have a heavy leather set glove, worn like, at "The Racket."

The railroad meeting in the interest of the Mill Creek and Walnut Grove railroad, which was announced for the 21st inst. at Lexington, has been postponed until the 22d inst., when it is probable something definite may be decided upon. There is still hope for a railroad, though it be in the dim, distant future.

Girls will please bear in mind that next year will be the last year of the century, and another will not occur until 1900. The year 1900 will not be a leap year. This unusual occurrence is due to the fact that the addition of one day to each fourth year more than makes the presumed deficiency in the calendar year, and consequently the world is constantly losing time, as a watch loses it, and therefore there was danger that in the course of a few thousand years the Fourth of July would come on Christmas.

A full and complete line of all styles of ladies' trimmed hats at the Racket Store at popular prices.

Elsewhere will be found the announcement of Mr. Charles T. Byrd, of Canaan, Ky., as one of the circuit court clerks for Wolfe county. Mr. Byrd has never before asked for or held any office, and he holds the office of circuit clerk that has been an arduous and onerous. Fought for the interest of his party. He has been holding in this case for some years past, writes a good business hand and is in every way qualified for the position, as may be evidenced from the fact that he holds four first-class certificates as teacher. As the early bird catches the worm," the other fellows had better look out.

Why Not You?

When thousands of people are taking Hood's Sarsaparilla to overcome the weakness and languor which are common at this season, why are you not doing the same? When you know that Hood's Sarsaparilla has power to cure rheumatism, leprosy and all diseases caused by impure blood, why do you continue to suffer? Hood's cures others, why not you?

Hood's Pills are prompt and efficient.

John Wilson (Logan) one day last week had the editor a bunch of what he said was Mexican coffee. He said he uses it for coffee and that when the pods are opened with boiling water the grain resembles coffee in every feature. Others, however, tell us that the plant is nothing more nor less than a bush pea, and the grain resembles a pea, so that John may be mistaken in his diagnosis. One man told us that he raised a quarter of an acre and did not get as many peas as would feed his family a month. He has a more hopeful opinion of the pea, whatever it is, and that he will next year plant an acre. If it should prove to be a species of coffee, it even a good substitute, John will make a good thing out of his venture, and we hope him every success.

See the ladies' hoarse, black and tawny, from the 2 to 25c per pair, at "The Racket."

The Herald Extends Congratulations.

The many friends of L. C. Dunmore, who was for some time a resident of Canaan, will rejoice with us that he has taken into himself a helpmate, and join with us in congratulating the young couple on having been made a choice. The following letter from him is self explanatory:

PONCE PARK, FLA., Sept. 30, '95.

My Dear Old Friend,

I read THE HERALD greatly. Read it along and one of these days when at a money order, you will find it as a valuable what given to reading the paper I presume you are aware that I was recently my good friend in Kentucky—Miss Fannie Lander, of John Junction—deceased, and I was a member of her family. I am sure I have your heartiest congratulations.

Truly yours ever,

John G. Craddock, editor of the Paris Kentuckian, writes, on a Cincinnati Southern train, about Lindsay Ware, a gentleman at present visiting his wife at this place, and will know to many of our citizens, and in an interview with that gentleman inquired the following from him: "At Harziman, on Cincinnati Southern railroad, Sunday night, we were surprised by Lindsay Ware entering the car. He said: 'I have sold out my interest down here in farming lumber to the state. In discussing the John L. Moore affair, Lindsay Ware feelingly said: "Poor John L. He is but an other victim of that faithless old hag, Dame Fortune, who smiles only to lure you on to utter ruin. He got entangled and stuck all and the time turned adversely. Had he won, his opinions would have been counted and quoted; having lost, he is perished with grief and care. Such is human nature." Speaking of the loss of our watch, he said, I, Lindsay Ware said he had lost three watches in Cincinnati. First, his father's $100 watch, then his brother Joseph's $150 watch, and then one of his own, all stolen, not smoken."

Any individual who thinks no more of himself, and especially the noble profession represents, than to go over the country and town soliciting patronage by promising to do practice for the poor sick ones at half the amount other and better physicians charge, is simply a knave in his broadest sense, and is not worthy the confidence of the profession or the laity, and is already condemned by the college and faculties and medical societies. So, if you can't take a living out of your practice by honest professional dealing, buy a name and card, and go to the rock quarry.

I will say that my wife suffered death with sick headache for years and the Electroplase has almost cured her. It relieves neuralgic pains every time, and I do not doubt but that persistent use will entirely cure that trouble. I have used it for ordinary fevers on our children of 3 to 6 years of age with most marked success, thirty-six hours usually resulting in a decided cure.

As for myself, I have had occasion to treat a violent attack of the grippe broke it up completely in forty-eight hours, an hour's treatment locally between the eyes and all night treatment at the feet, and the next day I was out and through the next day did the work. The Electroplase is the sovereign remedy for colds and all forms of prostration from over work. Yours very truly,
